- Comprehensive continuous assessment (versus end-of-year examinations).
- New assessment protocols based on grades rather than marks
- Curricular flexibility and increased options for student mobility.
- Regular updates to curriculum

Choice Based Credit System (CBCS):

A semester credit is measured as one lecture (one hour) per week

Conclusions:

- The new semester-based evaluation system represents a significant departure from the annual system
- Some universities are implementing them more proactively and innovatively than others
- No common grading or credit point scale and that equivalencies are going to have to be established on an institution-by-institution basis
