

Executive Lead, International Strategy*Simon Fraser University*Location: Burnaby, BC

Consistently ranked among Canada's top research-intensive universities, Simon Fraser University (SFU) is a world leader in knowledge development, research practices and sustainability. SFU forges lasting partnerships that enhance the social, economic and cultural well-being of the communities it serves. The university equips students with the knowledge, skills and experiences that prepare them for life in an ever-changing and challenging world. And with more than 180,000 alumni around the world, SFU's work and impact can be seen in all corners of the globe. With vibrant campuses in British Columbia's three largest cities—Burnaby, Surrey and Vancouver—SFU is not just shaping minds, it is also shaping communities.

Built on academic and intellectual freedom, SFU values multi-ethnic diversity, global knowledge and citizenship amongst all its students, faculty and staff. SFU honours the history and contribution of Indigenous peoples, cultivates a work environment of recognition and support, and pursues ecological, social and economic sustainability through all programs and operations. SFU believes each student, faculty and staff member on its campus is a valuable voice, and together with its communities continues to challenge traditional thought and educational culture to remain on the cutting edge.

The search for an inaugural Executive Lead, International Strategy presents an exciting opportunity for a visionary leader to shape and elevate the global presence of SFU. This role offers the chance to drive the institution's international outreach by crafting and executing a visionary global strategy, forging impactful partnerships and enhancing the university's presence on a global scale. The Executive Lead will play a key role in expanding the university's global network, integrating diverse perspectives into academic and research programs and positioning the university as a leader in global higher education.

The successful candidate will be an influential communicator with the ability to foster collaborative relationships internally and externally. Their commitment to excellence and passion for enhancing the university's international footprint will be evident through a successful track record of strategic vision. This position is ideal for an experienced professional looking to contribute to a leading institution's global strategy and make a meaningful impact on its international standing and success.

This role is based in Burnaby, British Columbia.
