

BC Symposium: Advancing International Student Support Roundtable Discussion Notes

In January 2025, BCCIE ran its 2nd annual BC Symposium: Advancing International Student Support. We have provided the following notes summarizing key points and best practices shared during the roundtable discussions:

IMMIGRATION ADVISING

Managing Stress & Workload for Staff

- Peer Support: WhatsApp group with other RISIAs for discussion and clarification.
- Transparency: Honest communication with students about navigating policy changes together.
- Work-Life Balance: Deleting apps such as email and Microsoft Teams at home to disconnect from work.
- Perspective: Reminding oneself of the positive impact on students despite ongoing changes.

Staying Updated on Immigration Policy Changes

- Trusted Sources: PDI, CIC News, Canada Gazette, LinkedIn (RCIC posts), Borderlines podcast.
- Expert Consultations: Network of trusted RCICs and lawyers who offer free 30-minute calls for student inquiries.

Communicating Policy Changes to Students

- Simplified Language: Ensure clarity, especially for non-native English speakers.
- Internal Information Sharing: Keep different departments informed to ensure consistent messaging.

Supporting Students' Stress & Anxiety Around Immigration Uncertainty

- Dedicated Wellness Support: Provide wellness advisors, ideally with a psychology background.
- Counselling Partnerships: Online/in-person support with extra sessions available if needed.
- Peer Support Groups:
 - » Group counselling tailored for international students.
 - » Grief & loss groups framing policy changes as a form of loss, helping students process and plan their next steps.

Tools & Resources for Students

- Cross-Departmental Workshops: Collaborate with career services, enrollment services, and wellness advisors to provide holistic support.
- Proactive Workshops: Identify common student concerns and create sessions with access to resources like PowerPoint slides afterward.
- Online Content: Video tutorials, templates, and drop-in sessions for accessibility.

Collaboration & Best Practices

- External Collaboration:
 - » Microsoft Teams for connecting with ISAs at other institutions.
 - » Regional institutions meet multiple times a year to share best practices.
 - » CBIE student advising community for nationwide discussions.
- Internal Collaboration:
 - » Joint meetings with faculty, staff, and advisors to ensure alignment on policy updates.
 - » Restorative relationships coordinator joins immigration meetings to reduce student burden in re-telling information.
 - » Cross-departmental emails to ensure immigration advisors stay informed.
 - » Social activities (e.g., faculty/staff lunches) to build relationships and trust.
 - » Microsoft Teams chat for real-time updates and information sharing.
 - » Emphasizing that only registered immigration advisors should provide immigration guidance.

STUDENT ORIENTATION

Inclusive & Accessible Orientation Strategies

- Student Involvement: Student panels help reassure new students.
- Reducing Information Overload: Provide slides and key information via email after sessions.
- Interactive Engagement:
 - » Icebreakers help students wake up and meet peers from different cultures.
 - » Peer Mentors led campus tours to offer a change of scenery.

- Hybrid Format:
 - » Part 1 on Zoom, Part 2 in-person (succinct information, recorded for later viewing).
 - » In-person session includes printed resources, goodie bags, quality food, and prizes.
- Extended Support: "Orientation 2.0" session 30 days later to refresh key information.
- Thematic Approach: "We Are Family" theme for orientation to foster a sense of belonging, including networking, career programming, and monthly check-ins.
- Accessibility Measures: Online platforms, QR codes for info, and posters throughout campus.
- Mandatory Online Orientation:
 - » Attendance tracking with account holds for non-compliance.
 - » Engaging activities like icebreakers.
 - » One-on-one advising sessions during the first two weeks.
 - » Family-focused sessions.

Collaboration & Campus Integration

- Cross-Department Collaboration:
 - » Combine domestic and international students for morning sessions, followed by an international-only afternoon session.
 - » Integrating faculty, staff, and various departments into orientation programming.
 - » Create short department videos to explain their roles.
- Community Partnerships:
 - » Hosting a "Back to School Fair" with community organizations (banks, phone companies, RCMP, etc.) for onsite services.
 - » Include city tours, Indigenous engagement, and recreational outings (e.g., Whistler, tubing, lake visits, Stanley Park tours).
 - » An institution led a welcome booth at the airport, staffed by student volunteers.
- Pre-Arrival Support:
 - » An ESL program offers pre-arrival sessions with program coordinators and international student advisors.
 - » Collaborate closely with overseas agents to provide pre-arrival workshops.

Balancing Information & Student Engagement

- Prioritizing Belonging Over Information Overload: Make orientation about fostering connection rather than overwhelming students.

- Structured Orientation:
 - » Positioning orientation as a registered (but free) course or pre-requisite increases participation.
 - » Peer Mentors provide in-person support and send follow-up emails.
- Student-Led Information Sharing:
 - » Zoom and WhatsApp chat groups allow students to share information (though unmonitored for accuracy).
 - » Peer Ambassadors increase credibility—students trust information more from fellow students.
 - » Paid Peer Advisors can ensure accurate information is shared in group chats.
- Parental Engagement: Separate info packages for parents/guardians vs. students.
- Logistical Support:
 - » Agents copied on emails with key student information.
 - » Free city walking tours with donation-based payments.
 - » Waivers and emergency contact forms for student safety.
- Sustained Engagement: International Peer Advisor programs provide ongoing personal connections throughout the first year.

CAREER PREPARATION

Successful Career Prep Programs & initiatives

- Global Lounge offers drop-in career coaching.
- 14-week employer-paid work placements in non-profits (low uptake due to financial concerns).
- Big Interview software to help students practice behavioral interview questions.
- International student advisor partners with career services for pre-arrival to post-grad support.
- Global department proactively assists students in obtaining co-op permits by visiting classrooms.
- “Graduation, Now What?” event integrates career, immigration, and enrollment services.
